Introduction.

The definition of GRACE in the Oxford English dictionary is: smoothness and elegance of movement e.g. 'she moved through the water with effortless grace'. The name and its definition so gloriously sum up this extraordinary 2009 Astondoa GLX 96, one of only two anywhere in the world.

Astondoa has been building custom luxury motor yachts for well over a century, and remarkably they are still a family run ship yard. The heritage, passion, experience and attention to detail of Spain's largest and most successful luxury yacht builder is clear to see right the way through GRACE's design, and is completely embedded in her DNA.

GRACE is formidable in so many ways. Her volume is astonishing for a yacht of this size, she boasts higher ceilings than pretty much every other yacht in her category, she has a full beam master stateroom that rivals and often dwarfs her 40M counterparts, and she offers luxurious accommodation for 10 guests rather than the usual 8 for this size.

GRACE's flybridge is worthy of taking centre stage in the design accolades. Astondoa have masterfully created one of the most dynamic upper decks around. Incorporating large social spaces, ample sunbathing areas and an abundance of entertaining and dining options, suitable for any occasion.

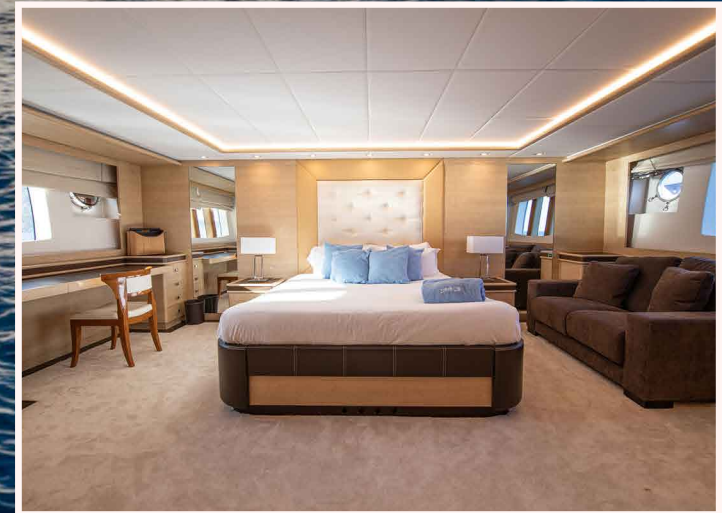

GRACE offers as a unique opportunity to purchase an exceptionally large and incredibly well built yacht. She is perfect for family adventures, but with the added bonus of being commercially registered, and with a successful charter history. GRACE is available for immediate sale, viewings can be arranged in Nice, France with prior notice.
